

Chip Springer's Digital Grey Card

Here is the solution to a frequent problem. The color's off, you want to click on a neutral color, but there is none in your photo. Chip Springer's Digital Grey Card to the rescue. The action adds a very small 50% grey stripe at the top of your picture. It is then converted to the average color cast. Click the top stripe with the Level's Neutral eyedropper. That's it! Selective Color and Color Balance Adjustment Layers have been provided for further tweaking. The action finishes by cropping out the grey stripe. Note there are separate actions for CS and CS2, and now CS3.
